

2-8 players | 1-3 minutes | A Game of Last Place

How to Play

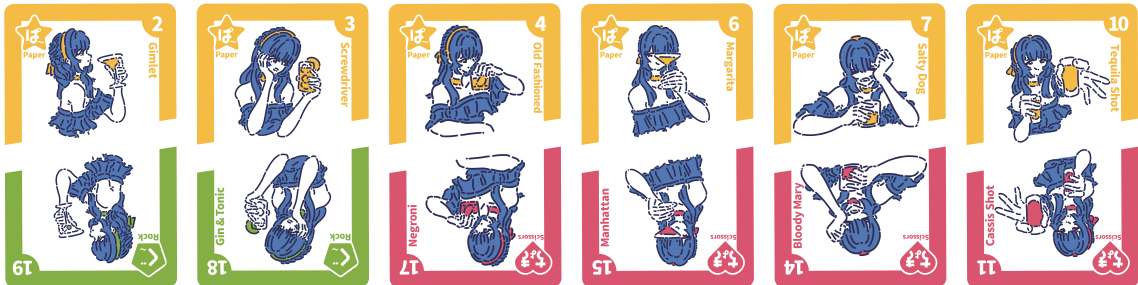

Overview

Which drink will you choose—the top or the bottom?

A new kind of Rock-Paper-Scissors drinking game combining luck, strategy, and deduction!

Contents

10 cards, each featuring a Rock, Paper, or Scissors hand and a number on both the top and bottom.

Paper ×10, Scissors ×7, Rock ×3, Numbers range from 1 to 20

Each side of a card has its own hand and number.

How to Play

① Draw

Shuffle the cards and deal 1 card to each player.

Reveal 2 cards from the top of the remaining deck and place them face up on the table. These cards are not used in the game.

Keep an eye on the revealed cards!

They give you clues about what cards other players might have.

② Choose Your Side

Choose either the top or bottom of your card and hold it with that side facing up. Only the hand and number on your chosen side count.

③ Reveal!

On “Rock, Paper, Scissors, Shoot!”, everyone reveals their card simultaneously.

④ Find the Loser

Play Rock-Paper-Scissors using the hands shown on the cards.

The losing player(s) lose the round.

If multiple players lose, only those players continue to the next round.

⑤ Tie? Check the Numbers!

If there is a tie, the player with the lowest number loses.

2 Players

Each player draws 3 cards instead of 1.
Repeat Steps ②–⑤ using those cards. Lose twice, and you're out!

3–4 Players

Each player may redraw their card once.